As a compass guides ones' direction, so the Medical College of Virginia has established for us paths which lead in diverse directions, but have one ultimate zenith. A zenith where we strive to give more than we take so that we may serve mankind fully. Our paths have not always been easy; however, in some small way, perhaps the pleasant memories of the Medical College of Virginia will be recalled by these pages.

MEDICINE

Dedication

*To a man who was a teacher in every sense of the word.
To a man who sought perfection and encouraged others to seek the same.*

To a teacher whose philosophy encompassed medicine in its fullest sense with especial emphasis on consideration of the patient as an individual.

*To DR. EVERETT IDRIS EVANS, whose recent death brought to fuller realization the greatness that was his...
To him we humbly dedicate our section of the annual.*

ANOTHER milestone is reached, but unlike those already passed and those to come, this must be considered our zenith, for all our previous training has merely been in anticipation of this moment and all achievements to come must, of necessity, be founded on our passing from medical school into the garb of new physicians.

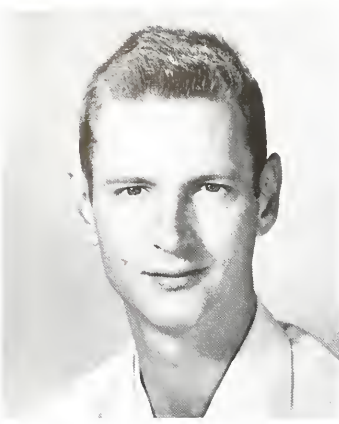

But, as in many mentally confused persons such as we have observed, we are filled with mixed emotions at this time. On the one hand we stand pensive and nostalgic about leaving our many newly-made friends here while on the other hand we anticipate the fruition of our careers, many in far-flung locales. Equally perplexing is the feeling of complacency engendered by having absorbed so much medical training, at the same time encountering a sense of hopelessness in the face of the realization of the fact that we must put this knowledge to use, alone, after a brief stint as an intern.

We reminisce, and thereby renew confidence in the light of past achievement. In so doing we encounter such highlights as Anatomy, taught sonorously in the "Black Hole of McGuire" followed by sprightly cadaverous sessions, often continued until late at night. Then followed endless microscopy and dog and cat experiments, the whole being made more harried by the fact that one never knew how he was progressing (or regressing). We remember those exhilarating extra weeks of Physiology in the summer of our Freshman year. Our second year reminded the returnees that it might happen to them, but with the accommodation of the diffuse anxiety created by Physical Diagnosis, and bolstered by those frightfully practical Pathology lectures, we could describe this year as one of watchful waiting. The Junior year followed, and with it came our introduction to patients and bold attempts at integrative diagnosis. Indeed, Boldness was our keynote, an attitude born of a sense of belonging, the latter thrust upon us and spontaneously assumed in equal amounts. Though our growing store of knowledge was still woefully inadequate, we at least were getting our hands into the deadly serious game of "Doctor." Our Senior year taught us to attach to these "Case Records" a character, a reality, a oneness, fostered in a large measure by an increased knowledge of the Whole Patient as encountered in N P clinic, Medicine clinic (N P Extension) and Home Care with Kinloch.

Most of our questions have been answered. Some quite monumental ones remain, and among these are: "Will we be successes as regards both our patients and ourselves? Will we, with superior training behind us, be able to further medical knowledge as much as our forefathers have? What is the fate of Medicine in general?" For these and many other questions, Time alone has the answers. For our part, we are ready to face whatever is in store.

Junior Class Officers

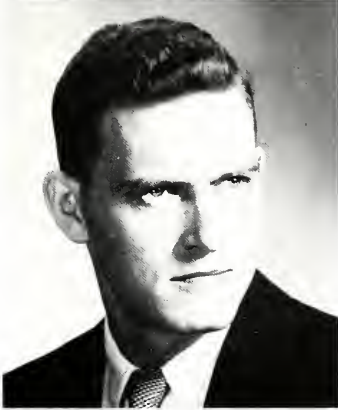

THE promise fulfilled . . . gone forever the days of scientific serendipity . . . here at last the Junior year! We donned our new white coats, grasped our stethoscopes in sweaty little hands and, bolstered by West Virginia reinforcements, hurtled headlong into our jet-propelled third year program.

Service followed service, each contributing to the storehouse of knowledge and experience which would some day entitle us to be called Physicians. At last we were on the inside . . . a part of the bustle, the humor, and the tragedy which constitute hospital life.

True, there were still the eight o'clock lectures to face. We enjoyed the Sutton Shuffle. We won't forget Dr.

MARION WADDELL, President

ARLIE WESTFALL, Vice-President

STEVEN ABRAMEDIS, Secretary-Treasurer

WALTER DRAPER, Historian

Bosher's Christmas present. We will remember the pleasantness of the ten o'clock coffee hour.

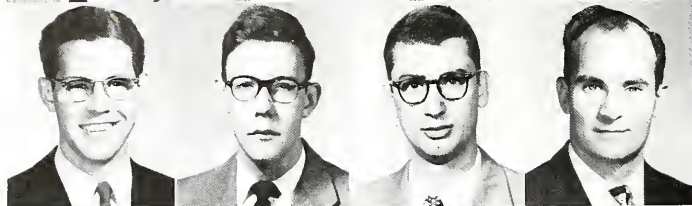

For the most of us, though, the important memories will be those of our first clinical experience—remembering how our hands shook the first time we drew a blood sample, the frustration of having to summarize the old charts, the thrill of making a correct diagnosis, the warmth of seeing a sick child made well again.

This was not just another year . . . this was a special year. For the first time we stood upon firm ground. We left the past with relief . . . we lived each day with determination . . . we faced the future with confidence.

THEY say that it is always darkest before the dawn. It must then follow that the light will soon arrive, because our Sophomore year has had some very dark moments. Even the last part of the Freshman year with, "Where do you learn your Physics?" and compounds that were "coming into the picture in a big way" was recalled with a pleasant sigh, as the second year began.

Out of the past come the voices of recorded history. Next is a list of nonmotile, anaerobic, spore forming, Gram positive, rod shaped organisms. The genus name is . . . Today we will hear the reading of the next five pages of the National Formulary.

Q.: What does this (Wenckebach's Period) mean to you, Mr. Gray?

A.: Nothing!

Slowly the dawn broke. We started seeing patients and groping for diagnostic clues. Even when they were present, we often missed them . . . like the group of seven who missed a Grade Five murmur. The complete manner in which the patient trusted us at these sessions shocked us into an awareness of our responsibilities.

In the Den of the Silver Fox thought was encouraged, and woe be unto the student who wandered out on the limb of detail away from the trunk of fundamentals, for off would come the limb and all thereon!

We started our own C. P. C.'s in Pathology, and in Clinical Pathology we learned to count platelets, WBC, RBC, differentials, also Hgb and study of slides provided. This was the year of drill; next year is the real thing.

Next year seemed so far away. Our first year was a frantic effort to become Sophomores. Now the air was more certain, panic difficult to elicit, and talk is of summer hospital jobs and externships next winter. At last next year is upon us.

Candidate for seventh floor

TULLIDGE
President

Freshman Class Officers

ON SEPTEMBER 8, 1953, with an outward display of overaccentuated confidence and an inner display of fear combined with mixed expectations, eighty-four personalities with a goal of medical contribution to humanity ascended the steps to the third floor of McGuire Hall to hibernate for the forthcoming five months. Soon, such phrases and valuable information as, "Focus up and down," "Huh?" and "The Journal of Anatomy, Volume II, page 29," became a part of our daily daze.

We were told that we were an experimental class. Especially was this true in gross anatomy in which, sans lectures and two hours' extended sleep each day, we spent four hours exploring the mysteries of our inactive subjects.

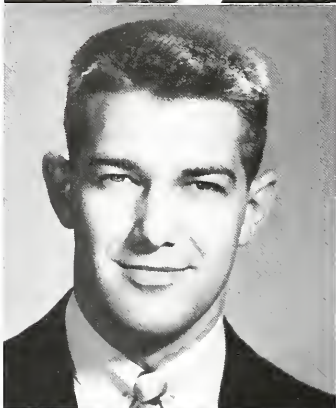

Just prior to Thanksgiving vacation (a period of a possible ninety-six hours' sleep) we celebrated with a combination "no-more-exams-until-after-Thanksgiving" and "we-haven't-partied-for-four-week-ends" party which was a colossal success with the able assistance of music, dates, and other luxuries.

With never-ending patience and understanding, our superiors managed to pull us through the preliminary rounds of tests, and in February ably refereed the final bout. We'd like to express our appreciation of their guidance and patience.

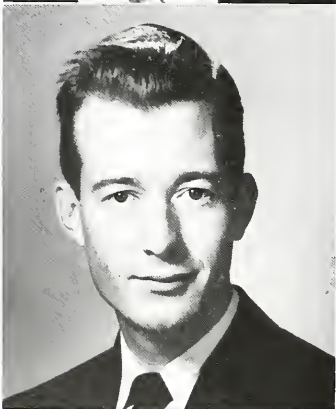

Migration to the fourth floor of McGuire created a maze of rheobases, kymographs, and frogs. We confirmed our earlier suspicions that criteria for professorship included the possession of supernormal intelligence and knowledge, and most important of all, the ability to be an actor.

Biochemistry in the Clinic Building made us feel just a little closer to our immediate desire of a "little black bag and a white coat" and made us realize that though our mistakes and gripes are many, the Class of Medicine of 1957 has shared together many rare and valuable experiences which will be remembered for many years to come.

DENTISTRY

Dedication

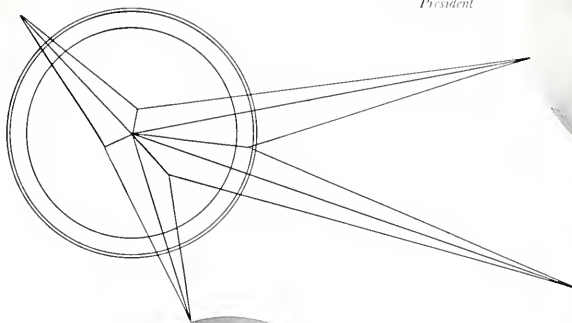

The class of '54 takes great pride in dedicating our portion of this book to Dr. HERBERT COY, a true friend and outstanding scholar and teacher of clinical operative dentistry. A man who gives unselfishly and unhesitatingly of his time and talents in hope that students may understand and perform good dentistry. We feel truly fortunate in having been exposed to his guidance and wisdom.

IN EARLY September, 1950, fifty-two young men from three states and all areas of Virginia assembled in McGuire Hall, and each man held individual pride in being a member of the Freshman class, School of Dentistry. Though bewildered and awe-stricken at our task ahead, our first year toward our common goal was under way. The next nine months were ones of concentrated book work for the majority, of a "little more difficult" variety than our previous college days. However, the burden of these hours of work was lightened by various activities, as "Anatomy lab bull sessions," the familiar call of "Coke time," fraternity rush parties, class parties, poker games, etc. These occasions brought about better acquaintances and the establishment of some lifetime friendships. By Christmas we were all fairly well acquainted, and the class began functioning as a congenial team which met and conquered the Freshman year battle.

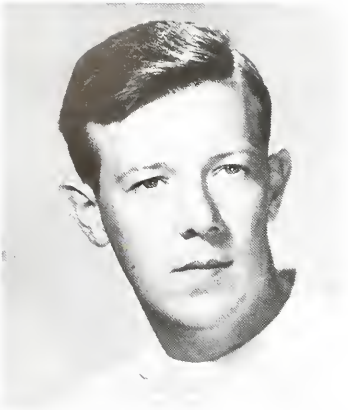

Our Sophomore year found us delving still deeper in the basic sciences. (One particular "basic scientist" will long be remembered for his informal and "broad-minded" approach to his subject.) Finally, however, our curiosity about the strange activity in the Senior lab and clinic was beginning to be answered in such courses as Dental Materials, Operative Dentistry, Prosthesis, and Crown and Bridge. Our confidence in achieving our goal was slowly increasing, the "Union" was functioning still stronger, our parties were more numerous and gayer.

Then . . . "Dum-dee-dum-dum" . . . Clinic! Sure enough, the "powers to be" saw fit to make us Juniors, which meant the long-awaited donning of crisp white gowns, the long haul of engine and case from basement to upstairs, reception of patients (live ones), application of rubber dams, endless hand-raising and waiting. Sweeny matrix (don't forget the wedge and compound), the use of filling materials not according to the findings of G. V. Black or Dr. Coy, but to the Bureau of Standards. We realized that the first two years had not been wasted after all.

Now the year 1954 finds us as Seniors on our last lap toward achieving that hallowed goal. The four years have passed quickly and, though we have been exposed to a great amount of knowledge under the guidance of an outstanding faculty, we face the future humbly, feeling that we have only scratched the surface of our education.

Broken Appointments

Junior Class Officers

GEORGE CRISWELL, President

FLOYD BICE, Vice-President

SO HERE we are Juniors, and school takes on a new and more purposeful meaning. Our previous two years were spent in smoked-filled lecture rooms and noisy labs working on inanimate objects. Subjects seemed a little vague to any practicability at that time, but now we are in our clinical years and those inanimate laboratory models and vague subjects seem to take on a clearer, more realistic meaning.

Many of us wondered if we would ever see the day when we would be working on a patient, but, alas! that day arrived in June of '53. In our first two years of didactic work, no one had given much thought to the seriousness that would be encountered while working on patients. As that day grew closer, blood pressures began to rise and brows were mopped profusely. Certainly it was not all due to extreme heat of the day.

Never shall it be forgotten . . . the day of our clinical orientation. Faces which had formerly been covered with frivolous smiles suddenly became serious. There was a different attitude cast upon the class. A week followed, of rubber dams, clamps, et cetera, concluding with lectures on patient management, and the techniques of filling out various charts and therapeutic sheets. However, it seemed that as quickly as it began, it was all over and the day came for the first patient.

About all that most of us remembered the first clinical period was that a rubber dam did go into the mouth, but for some reason it just didn't seem to fit like it did when Dr. Clough had put it on in student orientation. Those little rubber dam clamps could be most annoying in that they could be put on all sorts of ways, but only one way with any majority of success. That new item, the rubber dam, was now employed on cavity preparations. Text-books tell us that this is an invaluable aid in keeping moisture out of the operative field, but sometimes we took exception to this statement, and wondered if it wasn't employed to keep the student out of the operative field.

SLAYDON MYERS, Secretary-Treasurer

As the days passed by we soon learned the technique and operation of the clinic began to assume an air of assuredness. It was mutually agreed upon that it took a little more ability to work on a tooth in the mouth than it had previously in Sophomore lab.

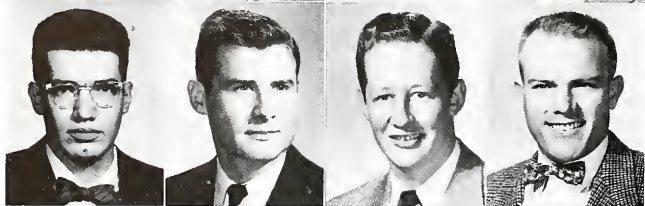

A new entity of dental work was introduced in our Crown and Bridge class. We began to assemble those precious crowns into bridges. Never shall it be forgotten, those silent prayers that were uttered before we placed the soldering torch on those crowns, and the joy that emanated from a successful fit, or the dejection which followed a misfit.

No sooner than we had embarked into our clinical routine, we were interrupted to move to our new dental building. This was an interruption that encountered no displeasure. As students trudged down the alley behind McGuire Hall loaded with articulators, flasks and instruments, an air of joy was discernible. It was as if we were being led to the "Promised Land." Eyes lit up as we saw our new home for the next two years. It was truly a masterful edifice to behold.

We started the new year with our new surroundings offering an extra incentive for the coming year. As the quarters passed, we began to look forward to taking our place as Seniors and pursuing in their footsteps.

SOPHOMORES! The word had a magic meaning after the ordeals of Gross Anatomy, Biochemistry, Bacteriology, etc. The word meant the problems to be encountered in Dental Materials and Crown and Bridge Prosthesis. The word meant the acquisition of knowledge and technique in partial denture construction and Operative Dentistry. It meant that at last the day had come when we, like our predecessors, could hand down advice and opinions to the Freshmen.

The summer vacation took its toll of our bachelor ranks. Classmates Gravely, Hutton, Pash, and Whitmore yielded to the inevitable.

As is the custom around M. C. V., the year started out with much work to be done. We found ourselves trying to determine the difference in feel of enamel and dentin. We were confronted with something entirely new in Denture Prosthesis, adaptation of a wrought wire circumferential clasp. And, of course, Dental Materials found us solving the problem of casting three perfect rings to fit a brass die. The pace was quickening, as Physiology and Pathology demanded considerable attention.

In October came rush season. There were dances, parties, and personal calls. When the bids were handed in only three Sophomores remained on the independent list.

As the Christmas holidays neared, we became excited over moving into our marvelous new building, the Wood Memorial Building. Here we found the most modern type of equipment and comfortable lecture rooms.

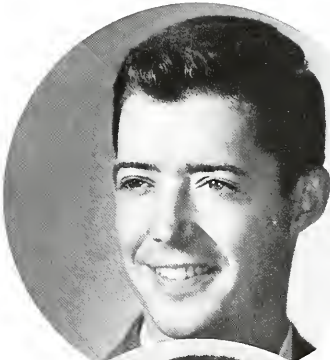

Once in the new building we settled down to the old routine. There were crowns to be made, and a cast maxillary partial frame. There was much to be done before we entered the clinic. The second quarter was drawing to a rapid close.

The year had its lighter moments along with the serious. "Chico" had trouble with his air hose, which exploded with a loud report. A certain member of the class spent quite a large percentage of the time in the trash barrel looking for lost objects. There was Lapetina and his verbal fisticuffs with Dr. Boyd, Dr. Burke, and others over such matters as fishing, the Orange Bowl, and how to set the Physiology lab on fire.

As the third quarter draws to a close, we have become quite concerned about entering our clinical years. There will be a thing called the "patient." Instead of working in the dentoform, we will be working in the mouth. Now our dentures will not be made for a hypothetical case. Yes, becoming Juniors will involve many new and different experiences. We only hope we will be able to dispel that "lost feeling" at an early date.

SEPTEMBER 8, 1953, marked the date for our matriculation into the School of Dentistry of the Medical College of Virginia. Since that time we have readily become adjusted to our new environment through the understanding and helpfulness of the upper classmen and the faculty.

The formal rush period of the fraternities began on October 3rd with a "Rough-It" party given by Delta Sigma Delta and ended on October 24th with a dance sponsored by Psi Omega. During this period we had an excellent opportunity to meet the men in the fraternities and to individually decide upon the one of our choice. We are proud of the fact that at this time a group of our class, with the aid of professors and alumni, revived Xi chapter of Xi Psi Phi, the third dental fraternity associated with our school.

The subjects which we have been taking have proved to be difficult but nevertheless interesting. Naturally, we feel that June, 1957, is an indistinct date somewhere in the distant future, but with the common interest for each other that has been shown so far, all fifty-four of us will be making our applications for degrees at that time.

NO! IT'S NOT a ghost or mirage. We have finally made it and, believe you me, it has been an uphill battle every second of the way.

It was early in September, 1950, when the battle broke loose. Some fifty-odd half-trained, poorly-equipped Freshmen were dropped behind enemy lines to prepare a way for what was yet to come. We were outnumbered from the beginning, with Sergeant Pitt's atomic division bombarding us with radio-active isotopes from one side and Seaman Hughes with his biological warfare from the other. It was devastating, and the casualty list was high, but never have there been braver and more gallant souls. Licking our wounds, we went into hiding for the summer, engaging only in occasional guerrilla warfare in isolated summer schools.

As the second year of our campaign rolled around, armed with reinforcements, our tattered but wiser little company set out again to accomplish our task, only to encounter graver difficulties than before. A young shavetail fresh out of the academy, "Shaky Jim" by name, was out to make for himself a name, and we found ourselves directly in the path of his onslaught. He took his toll, but somehow we were able to hold our own. So with new inspiration we pushed on upward, and after numerous bumps and bruises, we were finally able to make the summit of Quail Hill.

The third year began with our machine in high gear. We were invincible. Nothing could stop us now, but, lo and behold, we were dealt a deadly blow from above! "Flash" Neuroth in his new space ship, Polyethylene Glycol 69, began raining his new secret missile, The Tweens and Spans, upon us. There was fear in the faces of every one of us, and our ranks broke and fled. Sad was our plight, but we learned a lesson of respect here. It was not until late the following spring that we were able to regather our forces and again take the offensive.

Our campaign having dragged into its fourth year, we became determined and decided that, before another summer arrived, ultimate victory must be ours. Thus we began in earnest an all-out effort to reach our goal. Even with victory and the spoils in sight, the going was tough. Never for a moment did the enemy let us relax. Corporal Weaver was the last great obstacle we had to overcome, and any of us will tell you that he was no pushover. But even Weaver couldn't hold us back now. With a last valiant surge, we pushed over the crest of the last hill. With the taste of the victory celebration still in our mouths, we received our discharges—with honor, we might add—and dispersed in all directions to begin our rehabilitation with the feeling of a job well done.

INEVITABLY, the school year rolled around, and M. C. V. opened wide its gates to the class of '55. Most of us were back, and at last, as Juniors.

Things really started rolling (mostly classes), such as Pharmacognosy; Galenical and Organic lowered the boom, making the good ol' school days just a little rugged. Not many of us will forget those belladonna suppositories or that synthesis that took two and a half sheets of paper. But exams finally came, and part of the drudgery became the past.

And how domestications did pop up! Wedding bells and lullabys overtook some of those with their guard down.

MARY PURYEAR, Secretary-Treasurer
YVONNE PHYTHIAN, Historian

Aron, McConnell, Lafoon and Kellan became blushing grooms, while Hilbish and Verne painted up the baby carriages. Even in Pharmacy School the wheels of progress must turn.

Of course, social events had their place, too. One of the best crowds ever attended the Halloween Dance, and even the jack-o-lanterns seemed to have a big time. The Campus Room (Brinkley's, Incorporated) was the site for our first class party—which, by the way, was also a great success.

May finally came and with it the end of the year. It may take all summer to recuperate, but we will be back to spend our final year at M. C. V. in September.

SYNONYM: Homines confusi.

INGREDIENTS: Take of last year's sixty-seven Freshmen thirty-four parts. Add English Literature, mixed with a liberal amount of wit from Dr. Peple; quant and all its headaches from Dr. Weaver; inorganic from Dr. Young; the mysteries of comparative and Dr. Hughes; economics with Dr. Thomas's jokes and mules; physics with Dr. Taylor and his class demonstrations; and our Pharmacy courses from Dr. Boenigk.

Mix well with quizzes, lots of homework, calculation, re-calculation, re-re-calculation, and sixteen examinations. Take of transfers twenty-two parts, repeaters three parts, and add slowly with stirring to insure a completely homogeneous mixture.

Q. S.: To third quarter or until mixture is completely confused and precipitation is complete.

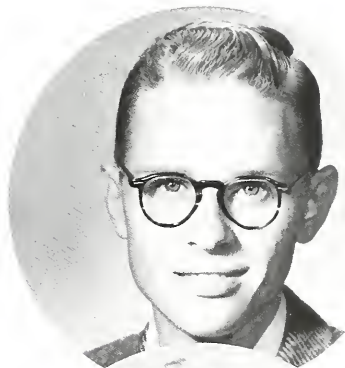

FIAT: Fifty-nine members of the Sophomore Pharmacy class of 1954.

DOSE: Take out a few members each year until 1955 and you will have the Senior class of 1956.

CAUTION: Take sparingly and only when necessary.

CHARACTERISTICS OF INGREDIENTS: A capable group of students. Reacts favorably with parties, griping, loafing, and week ends. Advocates less work and spends a great deal of time muttering, "Boy, will I ever be glad to get out of this place!"

Freshman Class Officers

SEPTEMBER 9, 1953, is a day which will long be remembered by many of us. A new class in the School of Pharmacy was to take its place in the hallowed seats of McGuire Hall. The faces that greeted the faculty in Room 209 that morning were both radiant and a little scared. As the day progressed, we learned to know each other, and the faces became more radiant and the scared look vanished.

The Freshman Class of 1953-1954 was destined to be the "first" in a number of events. It was the first time in the history of the Medical College that the Freshman Class of Nursing attended lectures with the Freshman Pharmacy students. This made a miraculous change in the chemistry and biology lectures as the Freshman Class of Pharmacy had only seven girls and fifty-two boys.

In September and October we became familiar with our new environment. By November we felt able to elect class officers, which have led our class well. The last of November found us confronted with our first exams. We rushed madly home at Thanksgiving with fear of the results to come. Happily, we fared quite well as ten Freshmen made the Dean's list.

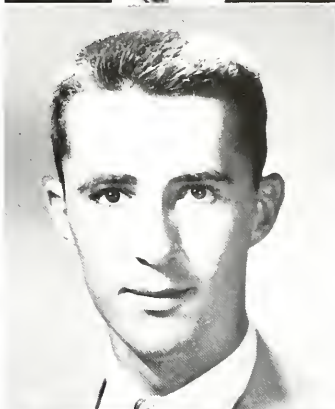

The Freshman Class did away with the traditional goldfish eating, and Jerry Goldman ushered in the grasshopper era. In front of a huge audience of students, Jerry devoured a grasshopper from Dr. Hughes' biology lab. Christmas found us enjoying a much needed vacation, but all returned eager to begin the new year.

In January the class held their first party in the Campus Room. It proved to be a gala occasion and a wonderful evening. We were invited to Dr. Hughes' farm for a party, and we planned a formal of our own in the spring.

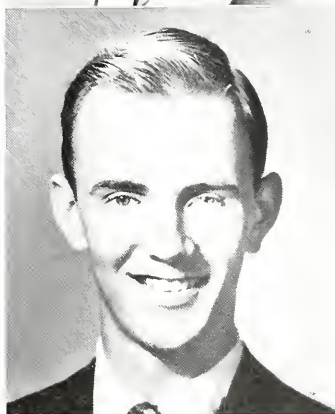

Yes, this was an outstanding class and only one of their four years has passed. Watch them progress in the next three years!

NURSING

Dedication

When we came to what might have been a particularly hard part of our course, there was someone there who, by her helpfulness, quiet guidance and skillful teaching, turned that experience into an interesting one and thus made our days here more meaningful. To that one we dedicate our section of the X-RAY with gratitude—
MISS HAZEL HOWARD.

WITH the goal in sight and the job well done, we, the Nurses of '54, turn and review three years of work, happiness, play, and sadness, and realize that we must accept our responsibilities to improve and better the world in which we live.

On September 5, 1951, we arrived at M. C. V. as young, innocent, and definitely very "green" pre-clins, with varied opinions of what nursing really is. With few exceptions we found the profession to be very little of the glitter we had expected, and yet what we did find was a far more satisfying experience. Our glamorous, well-fitted, starched, white uniforms turned out more often to be a little too large, too often not very starched, and mussed from our work. We were quite crowded for the first year with roommates, knick-knacks, and last, but not least, classes and tests. However, before that first year had passed, we had dwindled down in numbers, received our beloved caps, written a class song which was later voted on as the school song, and worked quite regularly on the wards.

Our Junior year found us all shaking in our boots. We began giving medications, and working relief and night duty. Just when we became confident that we could take the responsibilities of a ward, we began our special services. To many of us this was a staggering blow, but we soon found that we could adjust ourselves to these services and even come to love the work on most of them. Diamonds began to float here and there, and toward the end of the year several wedding bands began to appear on the correct finger. We sadly waved good-by to some of our big sister class as they left to nurse in various communities, states, and countries.

How excited and proud we all were when we got our black bands, and were able to wear our caps and gowns to the Senior Convocation. We had barely begun the year when we plunged into the preparation of the "Holly Hop." Finally, after much hard work, the evening of December 12 came, and everyone was dressed in her most attractive gown and was looking forward to her date and to see who was to be "Princess Holly."

After months of Public Health "at home," Crippled Children's Hospital with its cookie jar, Pediatrics, and Psychiatry, we finally reached the great day of graduation and of receiving the parchment and pin. What do we leave behind us? . . . Toil, laughter, frolic, and tears; a song; friends among our faculty and schoolmates; and a great many experiences which we will draw upon for many years to come.

To thee, dear M. C. V., we express our thanks.

we going to make some money for our class treasury?" Ideas of all sorts came along from time to time, but the most fun of all was our raffle. "Who wouldn't take a chance on a clock-radio for only twenty-five cents?" we asked everyone we saw. It seemed that no one around M. C. V. wanted to be left out.

This was Cupid's year, too, with weddings, engagements, or pinnings almost every month.

But of all our memories probably many of the everyday seemingly commonplace happenings will be those we think of in years to come . . . the rush for the bulletin board when the ward change schedule is first posted . . . waiting for the mail at ten and at three . . . the struggle to keep awake in a one o'clock class when you are on night duty . . . reading the funnies after supper in the evening.

And now we're two-thirds of the way towards our goal. In a way it seems that only yesterday we were "pre-clins," yet we can hardly remember when we did anything else. It's been a grand year—one we won't soon forget.

OUR best year yet . . . wards . . . special services . . . classes . . . and lots of fun.

Remember night duty on OB? (Who can forget? There was so much of it!) And that grand month in the clinic, working eight to four-thirty? How did you like being "on call" in the operating room?

Didn't we have a good time at our party for the Freshmen and Sophomores 'way back in September? Who will forget the Christmas party, when we played charades, and Miss Gordon brought boxes and boxes of peanut brittle? Half the joy of Christmas, though, was planning for "our Family." Toys and food and clothing and a little Christmas tree for a mother and her two small children helped us to share that happy holiday.

Spring brought the Junior-Senior breakfast, and in spite of (or perhaps because of) the last minute bustle, we really did enjoy ourselves.

The "Big Question" all through the year was, "How are

ON SEPTEMBER 8, Cabaniss Hall became our new home, and we, the thirty-one pre-clins, arrived for our three years of study at M. C. V. Because of the new four-year degree program in the School of Nursing, the class of '56 and the class of '57 entered on the same day. We were separated on the basis of previous college work, and those of us who had attended another school were enrolled as Sophomores.

The first week we spent getting acquainted with our classmates and M. C. V. There were parties given by the upper classmen, fraternities, and alumni associations, where we met many of the people who work and live here at M. C. V.

Then came the classes—Anatomy, Nursing Arts, Pharmacology, Medical and Surgical Nursing. Here we ran into words we never knew existed, dosage problems, things we couldn't even see under the microscope, and even making a bed became a complicated procedure. But with our goal of becoming nurses in our minds, we tackled our problems with determination.

During the month of November we elected our class officers and Mrs. Frances Russell as our class sponsor. We played basketball, joined the X-Ray and Skull and Bones staff, sang in the chorus, and were instrumental in forming a cheering squad. A few of our more talented members began the organization of a school band, and the blazers you have seen us wearing mark the beginning of class jackets in the School of Nursing. We hope this will become a tradition.

March brought the red letter day . . . CAPPING. With the donning of our caps, we went into the hospital with the new realization of the responsibilities that were fast becoming ours.

THE day of September 8, 1953, will go down in Cabaniss Hall history as a day of mass confusion. During the course of that day there arrived some seventy-four students who did an amazing job of unpacking trunks, moving furniture, and in general settling down in our new rooms. During all this strenuous activity, we became acquainted with our classmates, some who had been strangers, and others whom we had met during orientation in the summer.

Of the seventy-four who arrived that day, forty-three of us were destined to become the first students to enter the M. C. V. School of Nursing under the newly inaugurated four year degree program. While we felt very honored, we were also rather skeptical, fearing that we were being used as guinea pigs for this new venture. We soon realized, however, that the entire faculty was anxious for this new plan to succeed and were ready and willing to help us with our problems.

The next few weeks found us caught up in a whirl of picnics, gay parties, and other types of entertainment during which we made many new friends (of both sexes) and began to accept M. C. V. as our school. Next came the day of awakening when we realized, as classes began, that school was not all play and that in order to remain here we had to settle down to really hard study.

The arrival of the first holidays found a group of excited girls, happy to be on their way home to see parents and old friends again. During these few days, however, we realized how close we had become to school and friends, and we returned with anxious hearts to greet our friends and with a new zeal for studying.

This year has been a full one in which we have worked hard and played hard. We will treasure this year in our memories as one of the happiest and most beneficial years of our lives. As we start our actual nurse's training next year, we will realize and appreciate the knowledge we have obtained in this preparatory course.

ARRIVAL of autumn . . . beginning of things . . . forty-two members of the class of '54—from Maine to Florida, from Virginia to Montana—studying again . . . first time in three weeks . . . or three years.

The picnic . . . Ernie knocked himself out, then sang . . . the Yanks and the Rebels re-fought the War Between the States, sitting—on chairs with no backs . . . “You are cordially invited . . .” From Memorial to McGuire in five minutes, including stops by the P. O. and the Skull.

Bringing Halloween into the wards for the children who could not go out . . . songs by Dom and the “Four Witches” . . . The days of longing for massage instead of anatomy so we could get in that hour’s sleep we missed the night before . . . “I do not believe I taught you that.” . . . Standing, leaning over a dissecting table, a plinth, a machine.

After two months the first issue of the Scoop came out . . . it didn’t take so long after that . . . Being “model students” to exhibit those muscles and palpable bony landmarks.

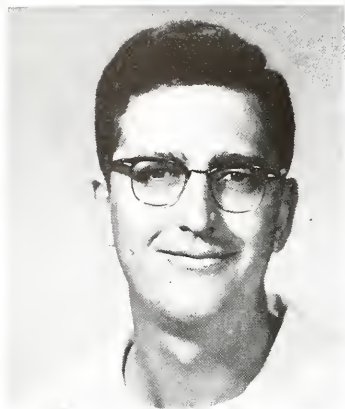

. . . We enjoyed the APTA meetings more than the members—and we were all student members!

Those BEAUTIFUL beige smocks! . . . Working hard at putting PT and MCV on the map . . . “Like so.” . . . Dusting erasers for Dr. Fischer . . . he was such a swell sport about the cartoon, Ja?

The study parties . . . Taking over the “Y” on Friday nights . . . Phototherapy . . . hydrotherapy . . . electrotherapy . . . shocking and steaming ourselves so we would not do it to our patients in the future . . . thinking we would never learn—and remember—it all . . . “Your whole trouble is that you do not follow instructions.” . . . MEDICAL

TECHNOLOGY

Dedication

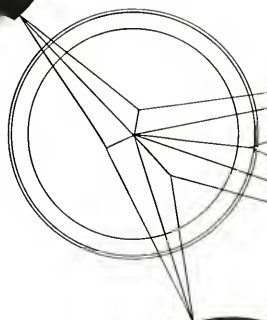

It is with great respect and admiration that we dedicate our section of the X-RAY to MISS MAUREEN F. BELL, who, in effect, created the student laboratory in which we spend the major portion of our time; who, without regard for time and effort expended, planned, supervised construction, and requisitioned all necessary materials and equipment from the smallest cover slip to the largest centrifuge. Since the very beginning of the school, she has worked with and for every class, endowing each with knowledge and skill and with a pride in our school and chosen profession.

IN SEPTEMBER, 1952, the School of Medical Technology was reorganized and enlarged. The school is equipped to train a maximum of fifty students a year, twenty-five in the spring and twenty-five in the fall. The twelve months' course which it offers is approved by the Registry of Medical Technologists of the American Society of Clinical Pathologists.

The minimum entrance requirements are two years of college with special preparation in biology and chemistry. Students who have completed at least three years of college work are awarded a Bachelor of Science degree upon satisfactory completion of the course.

The first six months of the course includes instruction in bacteriology, chemistry, clinical microscopy, hematology, serology, electrocardiography, histological technique, and blood bank procedures. The second six months consists of rotation through the hospital laboratories where the student applies her knowledge under actual working conditions.

After completion of this course, the graduate is eligible to take the examination given by the Registry of Medical Technologists, and upon passing the examination, a certificate is issued which identifies this individual as a Registered Medical Technologist.

School of Hospital

THE FIFTH CLASS of the School of Hospital Administration is unique in that it is the first such group in the school's history to embark upon a twenty-one-month course leading to a master of arts degree. During the nine-month academic portion of the school's program, the students are introduced to the principles and theoretical aspects of hospital administration. Following the academic work, each student is acquainted with the practical aspects in managing a hospital by serving a twelve-month administrative internship, six months at each of two designated hospitals in the state of Virginia. A certificate is awarded to each student who successfully completes the twenty-one-month course, and qualified students are then permitted to write a thesis as the last requirement to obtain a master of arts degree.

Most of the school's classes this year were held in the classroom across from the director's office in the Medical College of Virginia Hospital. With only nine students on roll, the class sessions were usually carried on in an informal manner. Special field trips were taken to such places as surgical supply houses, the State Legislature, insurance and Blue Cross offices, and various types of hospitals, including some in the process of being constructed. The meeting of the Virginia Hospital Association in Roanoke was attended in the fall, and the meeting of the Carolinas-Virginias Hospital Association in the same city was attended in the spring. Rounding out the year of scholastic work, a week-long trip was made to New York City as guests of several surgical and hospital supply companies. In addition to visiting some of the larger hospitals in New York City, the class was entertained socially by various attractions at the expense of its hosts.

With a background of study in the mechanics of operating a hospital, the class will now attempt to mix a little skill with its knowledge and endeavor to meet and solve practically the problems that will be met in the field of hospital administration.

THE Medical College of Virginia Hospital offers a one-year course in hospital dietetics to young women who have a B.S. degree from an accredited college or university and who can meet certain specific course requirements. The course is approved by the American Dietetic Association and, upon completion, interns are eligible for membership in the Association and may hold positions in Class "A" hospitals in the capacity of administrative, therapeutic, clinic, or teaching dietitian.

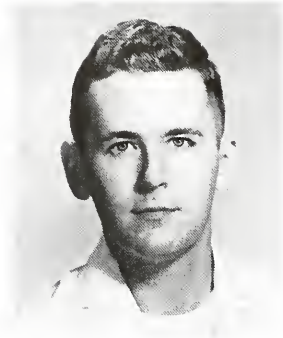

At present, the department is able to accept only twelve qualified applicants. Training is begun in September of each year, and students are housed in the John B. Newton House, one of the college dormitories. During training, students receive 113 hours of lecture work, as well as practical experience in the various units. Instruction is given under the supervision of graduate dietitians in the Department of Dietetics.

Upon satisfactory completion of the course, dietetic interns are granted a certificate from the Hospital Division, and are eligible for membership in the Medical College of Virginia Alumni Association.

THE governing power of the Student Body of the Medical College of Virginia is vested in the Student Council. The Council sees that the Honor System is carefully and fully explained, that all elections are conducted properly, that the Student Body funds are wisely disbursed, and that the Constitution is accurately interpreted.

Under the leadership of the President, Dick Newton, our college has this year moved forward in various directions. The budget deficit was resolved and the division of funds was made between the Skull and Bones, the X-RAY, the Athletic Association, the Social Committee, and other expenses of student government administration. An amendment to the Constitution abolished the Skull and Bones as it has previously existed, and it will be a section of the monthly Medicovan.

Eight hundred new constitutions were printed, also Student Council stationery, and Student Council keys were adopted for the first time under the chairmanship of Paul Guerry.

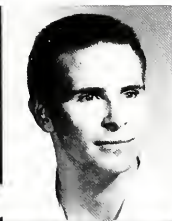

Also, much confliction of dates for dances on our campus has been avoided by having a Dance Committee, which was capably guided under the chairmanship of Lynton Goulder.

The Student Council has this year proven very adequate in governing our Student Body to lead us on to new and finer goals during our stay at the Medical College.

THE Honor System is a system of self-government whereby the students themselves eliminate from their body those who fail to deport themselves as honorable men or women in all of their college matters. It is the duty of the Honor Council to try all cases considered infringements of our Honor Code. Each class elects two members to the Honor Council.

We are proud that the ideals of sound government, that the proper distribution of power and responsibility, and that the triumph of right are operating within the structure of our organizations. We have practiced and upheld these principles of democratic government and living—striving always to improve and progress in our campus activities, living better as our knowledge increases.

THE Skull and Bones, in its thirty-third year of publication, has endeavored to bring the weekly events, past happenings, and progress of the Medical College of Virginia to its students and faculty. It has attempted to keep abreast with the building program of the college, of the activities of the various schools and organizations, and of the reports from the administrative office.

The staff of this publication is open to all schools and was never intended to be more closely associated with one school than with another.

The Skull and Bones is governed by the Board of Publications which chooses the Editor-in-Chief and the Business Manager. Professor F. P. Pitts from the School of Pharmacy has been the Faculty Advisor for the past eight years.

THE Mortar and Pestle Club is the student body organization of which every student of the School of Pharmacy is a member. Each year the Club sponsors addresses by outside speakers and social functions, the purposes of which are to promote interest in the college, the field of pharmacy, and create closer relationships between students.

The Club had its beginning in 1908 when a small group of students of the Pharmacy Department of the University College of Medicine met and formed a fraternal organization. After the amalgamation, in 1913, of the University College of Medicine and the Medical College of Virginia, the group was known as the Pharmaceutical Association of the Medical College of Virginia. Later the name was changed to the Mortar and Pestle Club.

THE Alumni Association of the Medical College of Virginia is very active on our campus with the students and in their contacts with the past graduates of M. C. V. The Alumni Lounge is open to all students of M. C. V. and may be used for a meeting place for them and for the graduates.

The Scarab is published by the Alumni Association and it is a source of information on the College and the alumni and a medium of exchange of opinion. Every graduate of the Medical College of Virginia receives a copy.

The Alumni Association plans meetings and scientific events, both state and sectional, where alumni may meet, renew old friendships, and receive information on the College.

We are most fortunate in having so active a group as are on the M. C. V. campus to keep up-to-date information on every graduate of the Medical College of Virginia.

THE Dental Students' Society was organized in its present form in the fall of 1946 with an expressed purpose of promoting scholarship and professionalism among the members of the Society.

The officers of the Society and two representatives from each class form an Executive Committee whose function is to promote a yearly program for the Society and certain activities of the School of Dentistry.

Membership is open to all students of the School of Dentistry.

The Society is fortunate in having Dr. George W. Burke, Jr., as faculty advisor again this year. Dr. Burke has shown considerable interest and co-operated wholeheartedly with the Executive Committee in helping the Society serve its members best.

THE Medical College of Virginia Y. M. C. A., with directors and a paid Secretary, was organized in 1916. Mr. Mimms W. Lee, who was then State Y. M. C. A. Secretary, was influential in helping a group to get it started. The first Secretary was Mr. Phil B. Trigg, who served until 1920, when he was succeeded by Mr. Walter C. Cralle. The latter served for one year and was followed by Mr. Earl T. Sullenger, who remained for the next two years. In September, 1923, our present Secretary was appointed, and has guided the activities of the Association in a most able and efficient manner for the past thirty-one years.

Mr. Larrick, as Executive Secretary, has rendered invaluable and unstinting service in behalf of student activities and athletics for over a quarter of a century, and the Medical College Branch has been indeed fortunate in having such a willing, enthusiastic, and capable co-ordinator of student affairs.

THE Medical College of Virginia Chapter of the Student American Medical Association was formed in 1952. This young club has rapidly taken its place among the organizations of the school.

Our objects are to advance the profession of medicine, to contribute to the welfare and education of medical students on this campus and to strengthen the bond between the students of the Medical College of Virginia and other medical schools, to familiarize our members with the purposes and ideals of organized medicine, and to prepare them to meet the social, moral and ethical obligations of the profession of medicine.

Religious

Dr. George Ossman is a well known and beloved member of the Medical College of Virginia staff. He received his training as a hospital chaplain at the Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston, in the Institute of Pastoral Care. He has been the Rector of the Monumental Episcopal Church, located on our campus since 1931, and the official chaplain of M. C. V. since 1943.

Dr. Ossman serves as a counselor, friend, and chaplain to both the patients and students at M. C. V. His presence and inspiring words are always ready when needed or sought by anyone on our campus. It is with gratitude that we recognize his presence and guidance in the spiritual life at M. C. V.

Baptist Student Union

Our B. S. U. is an organization with its main purpose to draw the student into a closer relationship with God; working with our local Baptist Churches. It helps us grow spiritually and socially. Our Belief is Strengthened through Unity.

Our meetings, which we have each Monday night in Monumental Church usually consist of guest speakers from our Baptist Churches and also ministerial students. Then for special occasions we have had retreats, banquets, picnics and other wonderful chances of fellowship.

This year our Council has been:

MARY EVELYN LUTTRELL	President
JANE CRAWLEY	Secretary-Treasurer
NANCY WRIGHT	Chorister
ELAINE HANCOCK	Publicity Chairman
WANDA EDWARDS	Editor of Capsule

Organizations

Laennec Society

Since there was at the time no organization for Catholic medical students at M. C. V., the Rev. Robert Walsh, Dr. Count D. Gibson, and several medical students in January, 1953, organized the Laennec Society. The society is named for Rene Laennec, inventor of the stethoscope; a man who gave classic descriptions of many intra-thoracic diseases, and who was a prominent Catholic physician of France during the French Revolution.

The Laennec Society was founded as an organization to bring together Catholic medical students, interns, and residents for discussion of moral and spiritual aspects of medical practice. Meetings are held every third Thursday. The programs consist of talks by a priest or physician, followed by a lengthy question and discussion period. At the end of the school year, the Laennec Society has an open lecture by a prominent Catholic on a subject of general interest to all persons in the medical profession and medical service fields.

THE Athletic Association was organized in 1923, and now provides activities for all of the schools of MCV. The aim of the Athletic Association is to create a means of relaxation, exercise and diversion, and to supply the spirit of competition which accompanies any sports event. A complete schedule of intercollegiate play is maintained for men's basketball and baseball, and girls' basketball. The Athletic Association also supervises intramural basketball, softball, and ping-pong, and has made available student golf-memberships at the Glenwood Country Club.

In 1924, Dr. William H. Parker became Graduate Manager, a position which he still holds, and under his able leadership and guidance the Association has made continual progress. Much of the success attained during the past twenty-eight years must be attributed to the efforts of an enthusiastic leader and friend, Jonah L. Larrick, who has worked tirelessly in student interests of all types. The Association has given its wholehearted backing to the soon-hoped-for building of a Student Field House and Athletic Building to be erected in the campus area.

THE MONOGRAM CLUB of the Medical College of Virginia was organized January 15, 1951, with the purpose of promoting and maintaining a high level of interest in athletic activities throughout the student body and faculty of the school, and promoting a higher degree of co-operation among the athletics of the Medical College of Virginia.

An invitation for membership is extended to all students who have been awarded letters by the coaches of one or more of the three major sports: at this time these being basketball, baseball and softball.

BASKETBALL for the '53 - '54 season was well above the .500 mark. After dropping a hard-fought opener to Richmond, the Medicos settled down to win from R. P. I., W. & M. of Norfolk, Newport News Apprentice, and U. T. S. We were on the short end of the score when the team met Dixie Containers the first time and William and Mary Frosh held a very slight edge.

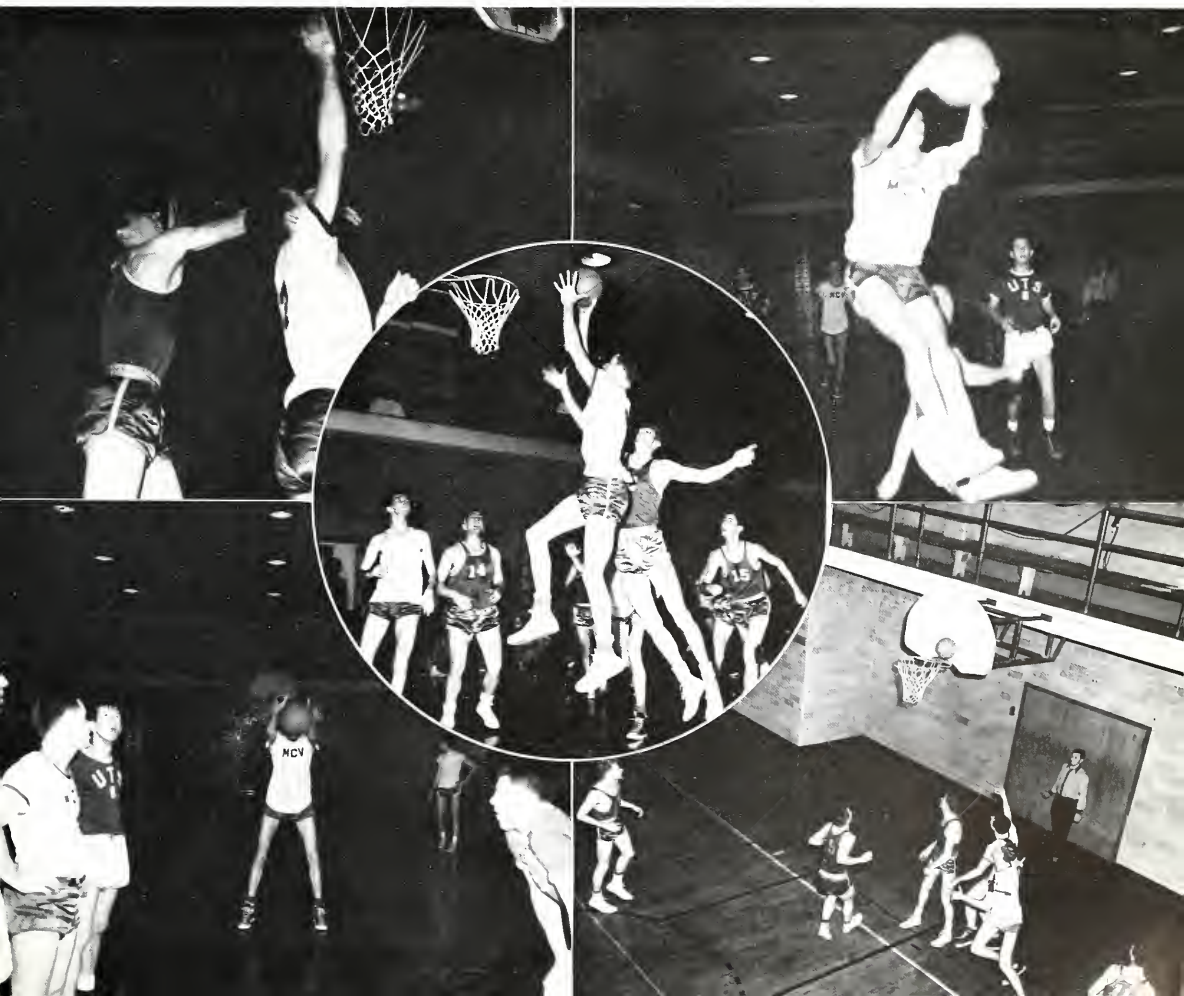

"Sticks" McLean played his outstanding brand of ball throughout the season. Tommy Haller hit consistently all season and Rod King, "Chubby" Sharp, Alan Weiss, Tommy Jobe, "Babe" Deputy, Jim Leonard, James Patterson and Vern Howerton added to the cause.

Return engagements with W. & M. of Norfolk, Apprentice, R. P. I., and U. T. S. were successful, but Dixie, Hampden-Sydney, and Randolph-Macon proved too much for Wray Sherman's scrappy ball hawks.

MEDICETTES

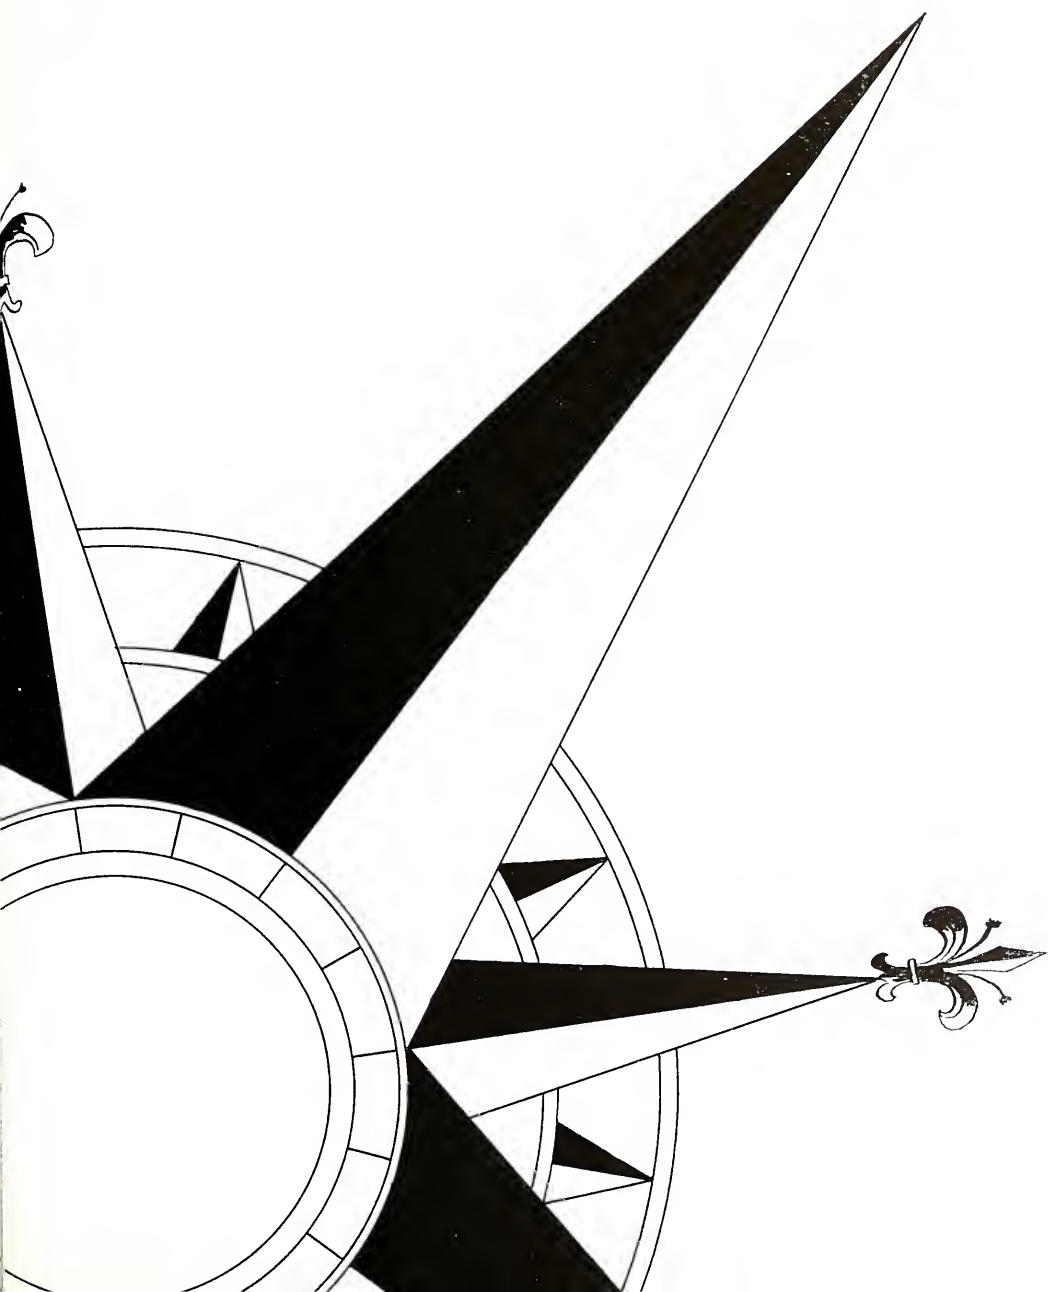

THE Medicettes joined the Capital City League for the 1953-54 season and had a successful team. Under the new and excellent coaching of Minter Ralston and Jim Leonard, we won eight and lost five games in the league. We also played in the McGuire tournament only to lose to Virginia Dairy 28-25 in the finals. Beverly Lewis won the Sportsmanship award in the tournament. In the city tournament the Medicettes lost to Johnny's Steak House 42-35 in the final game. In the games played outside the league, the Medicettes won seven and lost two games, making our total for the season fifteen wins and seven defeats. Thanks are extended to all who participated and supported in these games.

The organization now known as Kappa Psi Pharmaceutical Fraternity was founded at the Russell Military Academy in New Haven, Connecticut, May 30, 1879, by F. Harvey Smith. It was installed at the University College of Medicine, of Richmond, Virginia, as Beta Chapter, on March 31, 1900, and was later designated as Theta Chapter. In 1924, by mutual agreement, members representing pharmacy and medicine divided into two distinct organizations, and Kappa Psi Pharmaceutical Fraternity was incorporated.

ALPHA ZETA OMEGA, National Pharmaceutical Fraternity, was founded at the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy and Science in 1919. The local chapter, Omega Chi, was organized at the Medical College of Virginia in 1951.

"Having discovered that through intimate association with one another, and by practice of the virtues of mutual trust, sympathy, faithfulness, and unselfishness, we have been able to advance our profession, exalt our alma mater, and build strongly our individual characters; and being desirous of maintaining and expanding that principle of association and friendship and co-operation, A Z O was founded."

ALPHA SIGMA CHI, founded fifteen years ago at the Medical College of Virginia, is an honorary society organized to serve the college and student body and to grant recognition to those who by meeting high standards of leadership, scholarship and character have demonstrated ability and willingness to play roles in carrying on student activities.

Members are chosen from the schools of Medicine, Dentistry, Pharmacy, and Nursing. An honorary member is chosen annually from among the faculty.

Prime purposes of the society are to provide an organization with lofty ideals entirely above smallness, politics, or personal favoritism and to create a spirit of fellowship and co-operation among students in the four schools.

You're Among Friends Here

Every manufacturer we represent bears a respected name. Most of them have been in this business for several generations, and in that time have made notable contributions in techniques and materials to the science of dentistry.

You cannot afford to experiment with materials, nor take chances on having anything go wrong. Every move you make must be productive—it must lead to desired results.

Draw upon this wealth of information in selecting teeth, products and equipment that are worthy of your skill. This information has taken us many, many years to acquire and has served countless dentists to excellent advantage.

SPECIALIZING IN COLLEGE AND SCHOOL ANNUALS

IN APPRECIATION

To all those individuals and groups through whose help, splendid co-operation, and encouragement this publication was made possible, the Staff of the 1954 X-RAY wishes to express sincere appreciation.

To the Business Manager, Bob Chevalier, and his co-workers, the Staff says, "Thank you for a job well done."

And to the class representatives . . . this publication would have been impossible without your help. The Associate Editor, Roy Jones, Charles Hite, Joe Ahlschier, Betty Sue Carter, Rosa Kent Bishop, Emmalene Goldsmith, Bob Robertson, Bob Beasley (for his fine art work), Fuller Robinson, F. D. Morse, Fay LaRue, and Betty Boyer have proven invaluable as Staff members.

Mr. Lester Chandler, Mr. M. H. Jones, and Mr. Stanley Kirks of the Everett Wadley Company have been exceptionally co-operative in printing our yearbook.

Appreciation is extended to Mr. William W. Blankenship of the Richmond Engraving Company for his capable assistance in aiding our yearbook toward completion.

The Wray Selden Studios were very co-operative in making the school pictures and getting out "last minute prints."

Others who graciously offered their assistance with the 1954 X-RAY were Miss Thelma Hoke, Secretary to Dr. Sanger, and Miss Anne Skinner, Secretary to the Alumni Association.

We hope that as each one at M. C. V. goes toward his desired goal, this edition of the X-RAY will recall pleasant memories of classmates, teachers, friends and hours spent under the splendid direction of the Medical College of Virginia.

—THE STAFF.
